

Albuquerque

A trip to Albuquerque in early January 2012 for a 50th wedding anniversary.
The church in Old Town dates back to 1709.

Old Town in Albuquerque dates back to 1709. This is the Catholic Church in Old Town. We photographed only two spots – Old Town and the University of New Mexico on Center St.

The oldest house in Old Town is now a restaurant.

The street behind the church in Old town.

La Hacienda
INDIAN GALLERY

La Hacienda

RESTAURANT

MOCCASINS
T-SHIRTS

OLD TOWN
PARKING
$3
ALL DAY
→

PLAZA HACIENDA
→
THE OLD TOWN
CARD SHOP
HORSE OF A
DIFFERENT COLOR
GALLERY 8
BLAINES OF
OLD TOWN
SOUTHWESTERN
HANDCRAFTS & GIFTS

The entrance to the University of New Mexico. This was a Saturday and the state high schools were having their state choral and band competition. The school has about 28,000 students and in-state tuition is a bargain at about $6,000.

The Zimmerman Library. Campus architecture is done in Navajo Revival style.

David Lawrence, Darlene Rubio and Terry Shea.

The back of the Frontier Restaurant which is a landmark across from the University.

There are plenty of art pieces on campus and on the streets around town.

The Duck Pond.

A Mayan weaving in the Maxwell Museum of Anthropology which features native American crafts and arts.