

Marin County

The Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael.
Part 3 of 4: Fort Baker, Sausalito, Marin City, Belvedere, Tiburon, San Quentin, China Camp, San Rafael.

Fort Baker

(November 2003)

Fort Baker

Fort Baker sits at the bottom of the Golden Gate on the north end. This is now part of the Golden Gate National Refuge. There is still a Coast Guard station. (November 2003)

Fort Baker

(November 2003)

Fort Baker

(November 2003)

Fort Baker

(November 2003)

Sausalito

The tourist mecca has a population of 7,000. A post office was established in 1870. (November 2003)

Sausalito

(November 2003)

Sausalito

(November 2003)

Sausalito

(November 2003)

Sausalito

(November 2003)

Sausalito

(November 2003)

Marin City

Marin City has a mostly minority population of 2,666. (November 2003)

Marin City

(November 2003)

Marin City

(November 2003)

Marin City

(November 2003)

Belvedere

Belvedere has a population of about 2,000. It is one of the highest income places in the United States – 17th. (June 2005)

Belvedere

(June 2005)

Belvedere

(June 2005)

Belvedere

(June 2005)

Belvedere

(June 2005)

Belvedere

(June 2005)

Belvedere

(June 2005)

Tiburon

Tiburon has a population of about 9,000. It became an incorporated city in 1964. For much of its history it was an industrial city. Since its incorporation it has become a tourist destination. (August 2003)

Tiburon

(August 2003)

Tiburon

(August 2003)

Tiburon

(August 2003)

Tiburon

(August 2003)

Tiburon

(August 2003)

Tiburon

(August 2003)

Tiburon

(August 2003)

Tiburon

(August 2003)

Tiburon

(August 2003)

Tiburon

(August 2003)

Tiburon

(August 2003)

Tiburon City Hall

(August 2003)

Tiburon

(August 2003)

San Quentin

(August 2003)

San Quentin

The Richmond – San Rafael Bridge as seen from San Quentin.
(August 2003)

San Quentin

(August 2003)

San Quentin

The residential area of San Quentin. (August 2003)

San Quentin

(August 2003)

China Camp

China Camp is a state park. (November 2003)

China Camp

(November 2003)

China Camp

(November 2003)

China Camp

(November 2003)

China Camp

(November 2003)

China Camp

(November 2003)

China Camp

(November 2003)

China Camp

(November 2003)

San Rafael

(August 2003)

San Rafael

(August 2003)

San Rafael

(August 2003)

San Rafael

(August 2003)

San Rafael

(August 2003)

San Rafael

(August 2013)

San Rafael

(August 2003)

San Rafael

(August 2018)

