

San Mateo County

The San Mateo County Courthouse in Redwood City.

Part 2 of 3: Cities along Highway 101.

Brisbane

(January 2004)

Brisbane

The city was laid out in 1908 as a railroad town. It did not become built up until the 1920's until Arthur Annis began to promote it. It has only a little over 4,000 people. (January 2004)

Brisbane

(January 2004)

Brisbane

(January 2004)

Brisbane

(January 2004)

Brisbane

(January 2004)

Brisbane

(January 2004)

Brisbane

(January 2004)

Brisbane

(January 2004)

Brisbane

(January 2004)

Brisbane

(January 2004)

Brisbane

(January 2004)

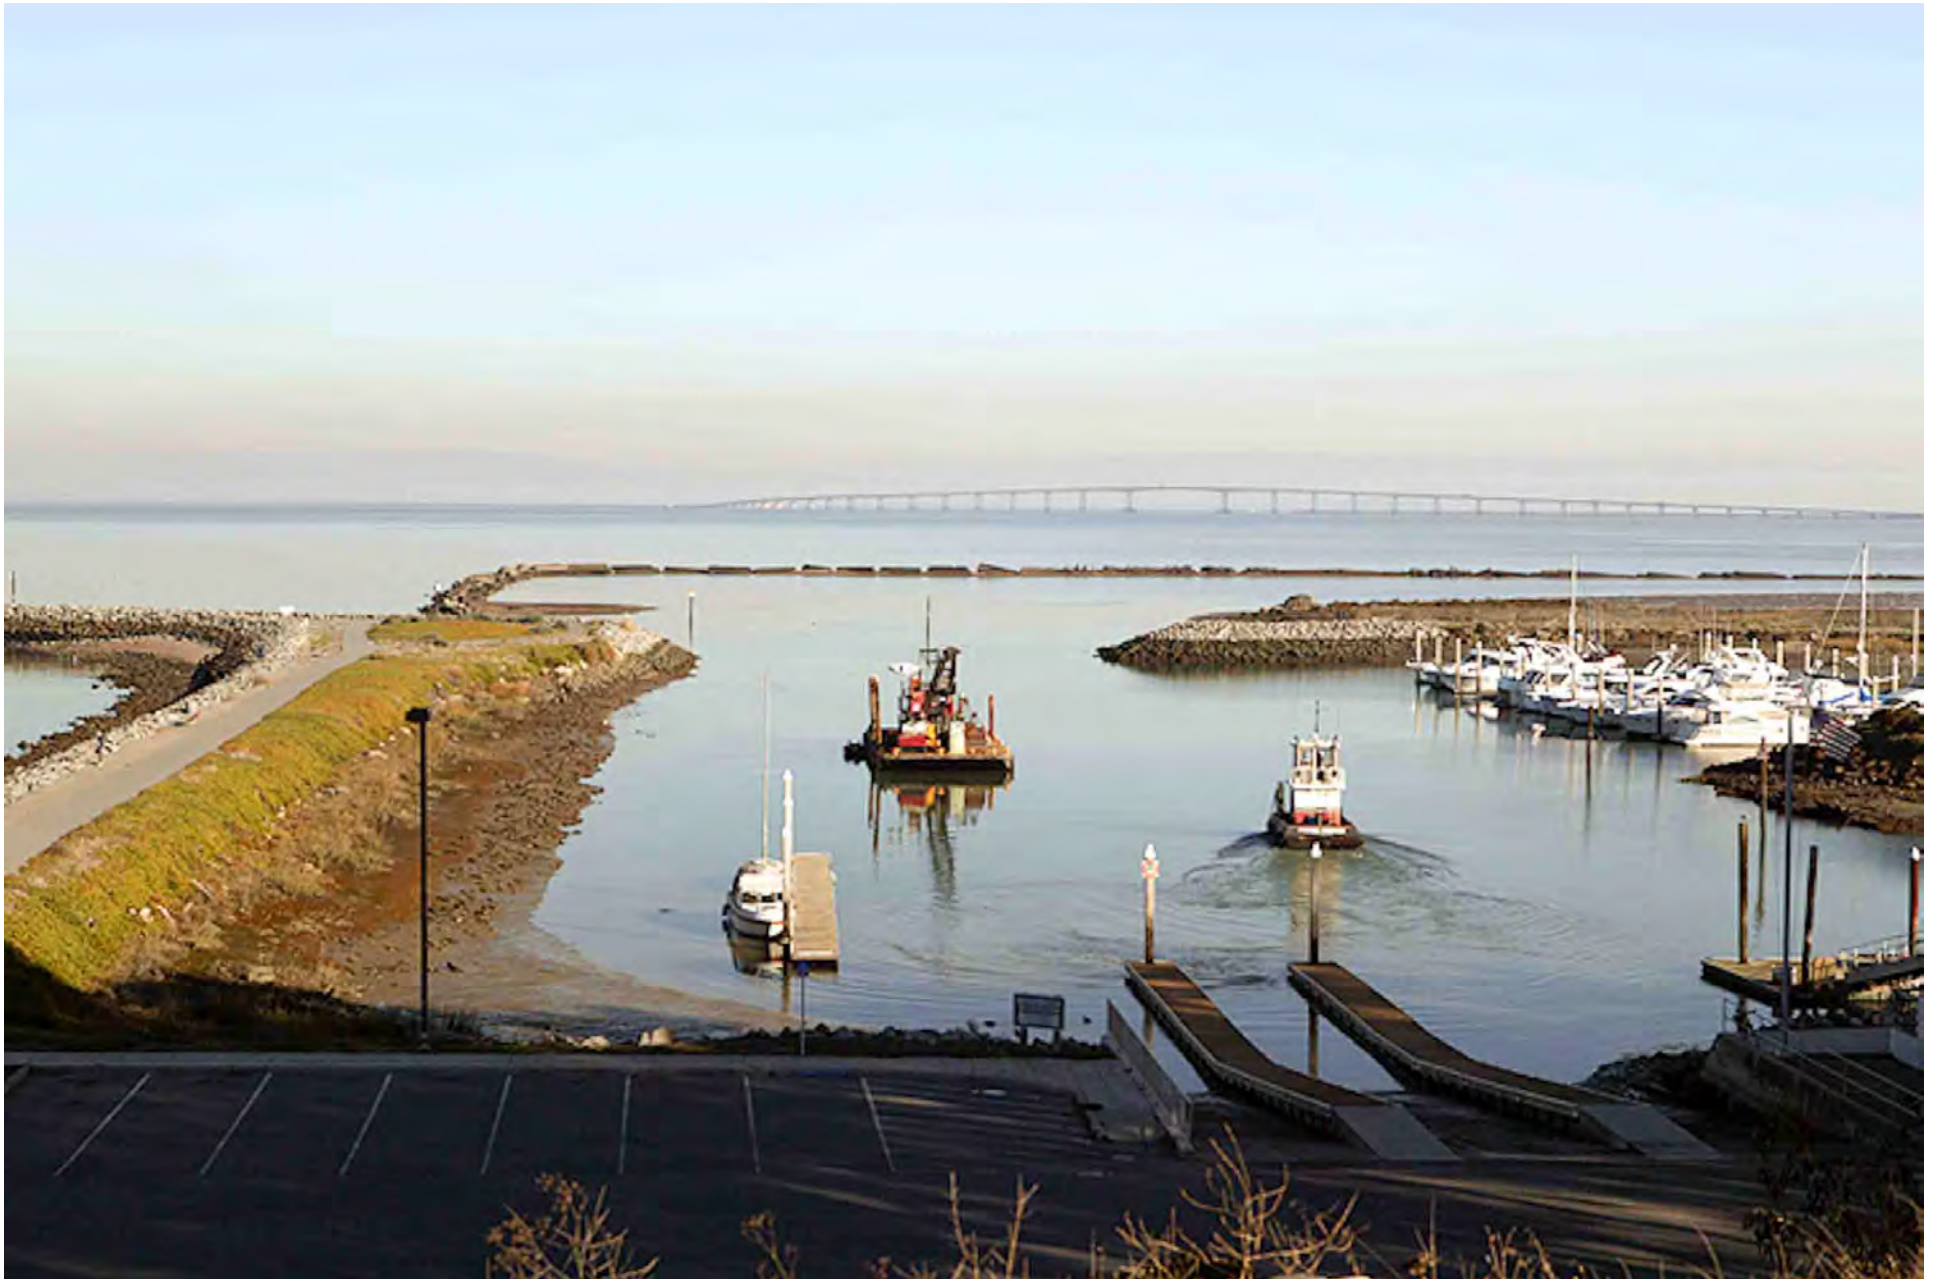

Brisbane

A new station on the BART line. (January 2004)

Coyote Point

The boat launch at Coyote Point, just south of the San Francisco Airport. The San Mateo Bridge is in the background.

South San Francisco

The City Hall. South San Francisco became a city in 1908. Today it has a population of about 63,000. (January 2004)

South San Francisco

Bronstein Music is a famous store on the main street,
Grand Avenue. (January 2004)

South San Francisco

(January 2004)

South San Francisco

(January 2004)

San Bruno

The city has a population of 42,000 and dates back to the 1870's. The bell marks the old El Camino Real, California's first roadway. (January 2004)

San Bruno

(January 2004)

San Bruno

(January 2004)

San Bruno

(January 2004)

San Bruno

(January 2004)

San Bruno

(January 2004)

San Bruno

(January 2004)

Millbrae

The city incorporated in 1948. It has a population of 22,000. (February 2010)

Millbrae

Millbrae dates back to the 1860's when it was the country estate of D.O. Mills, a San Francisco banker. (January 2004)

Millbrae

(January 2004)

Millbrae

(January 2004)

Millbrae

(January 2004)

Millbrae

(January 2004)

Burlingame

The city is next to the San Francisco Airport and has a population of about 29,000. (January 2004)

Burlingame

(January 2004)

Burlingame

(January 2004)

Burlingame

(January 2004)

Burlingame

(January 2004)

Burlingame

Known as the city of trees, in 1908 the city passed an ordinance prohibiting the cutting of trees. There are many eucalyptus trees throughout the city. These trees are along the El Camino Real. (January 2004)

Burlingame

(January 2004)

Burlingame

(January 2004)

Burlingame

(January 2004)

Burlingame

(January 2004)

Burlingame

(January 2004)

Burlingame

(September 2005)

Burlingame

(September 2005)

Burlingame

(September 2005)

Burlingame

(September 2005)

Hillsborough

Hillsborough became a city in 1910. It is one of the richest cities in the country. The median family income is $370,945. Its population is 10,000. (September 2005)

Hillsborough

(September 2005)

Hillsborough

(September 2005)

Hillsborough

(September 2005)

Hillsborough

(September 2005)

Hillsborough

(September 2005)

San Mateo

The city was incorporated in 1868. It has a population of about 100,000. (February 2007)

San Mateo

(February 2007)

San Mateo

(January 2004)

San Mateo

(January 2004)

San Mateo

(January 2004)

Belmont

Incorporated in 1926, Belmont has a population of about 26,000.
(January 2004)

Belmont

(January 2004)

Belmont

Notre Dame de Namur University is located here. It was established in 1851 and has about 2,000 students. (January 2004)

Belmont

(January 2004)

Foster City

T. Jack Foster is the founder of Foster City. He was a slick operator who managed to stick most of the bills on the taxpayers of the county. (January 2004)

Foster City

(January 2004)

Foster City

(January 2004)

Foster City

(January 2004)

Foster City

(January 2004)

