

Santa Barbara

Santa Barbara County courthouse in Santa Barbara.
Part 4 of 4: Santa Maria Valley, Guadalupe Dunes, Guadalupe, Santa Maria.

Santa Barbara Cou

© 2012 by Larry Stevens
stevens.lawrence@comcast.net

Guadalupe Dunes

(May 2008)

Guadalupe Dunes

(May 2008)

Guadalupe Dunes

(May 2008)

Guadalupe Dunes

(May 2008)

Guadalupe Dunes

(May 2008)

Guadalupe Dunes

(May 2008)

Guadalupe Dunes

(May 2008)

Guadalupe Dunes

(May 2008)

Guadalupe Dunes

(May 2008)

Guadalupe Dunes

The Santa Maria River as it flows into the ocean. (May 2008)

Guadalupe Dunes

(May 2008)

Guadalupe Dunes

(May 2008)

Guadalupe Dunes

(May 2008)

Guadalupe Dunes

(May 2008)

Guadalupe

The town became incorporated in 1946. The population is about 7,000. It is a farm town. (March 2004)

Guadalupe

(March 2004)

Guadalupe

(March 2004)

Guadalupe

(March 2004)

Guadalupe

(March 2004)

Guadalupe

(May 2008)

Guadalupe

Cabbage, broccoli, lettuce are packed in the field and put into a cooler before they are shipped. (May 2008)

Guadalupe

(May 2008)

Guadalupe

(May 2008)

Guadalupe

(May 2008)

Santa Maria City Hall

Santa Maria and the general area has a population of 171,000 people. The Santa Maria Valley has both fertile fields and oil wells. (July 2005)

Santa Maria

(July 2005)

Santa Maria

(July 2005)

Santa Maria

(July 2005)

Santa Maria

(July 2005)

Santa Maria

(July 2005)

Santa Maria

(July 2005)

Santa Maria

(July 2005)

New Cuyama

Highway 166 runs through the Cuyama Valley which connects the San Joaquin Valley with the Santa Maria Valley and Highway 101. (July 2005)

New Cuyama

The town exists because oil was discovered here after World War ii. The population is 517. (July 2005)

New Cuyama

(July 2005)

New Cuyama

(July 2005)

New Cuyama

(July 2005)

New Cuyama

(July 2005)

New Cuyama

(July 2005)

New Cuyama

(July 2005)

New Cuyama

(July 2005)

New Cuyama

(July 2005)

New Cuyama

(July 2005)

New Cuyama

(July 2005)

Cuyama

The only thing in Cuyama is the high school. The population is only 57. Most of the people live in New Cuyama a few miles down the road. (July 2005)

Cuyama

(July 2005)

Cuyama Valley Spring

In the Spring the valley turns yellow. Highway 166 runs through the valley.
(March 2010)

Cuyama Valley Spring

(March 2010)

Cuyama Valley Spring

(March 2010)

Cuyama Valley Spring

(March 2010)

Cuyama Valley Spring

(March 2010)

Cuyama Valley Spring

(March 2010)

Casmalia

Only 138 people live here which is good because it is a toxic waste site that has been declared by the EPA as a Superfund clean up site. (September 2008)

Casmalia

(September 2008)

Casmalia

(September 2008)

Casmalia

(September 2008)

Highway 1

(September 2008)

Vandenberg AFB

Vandenberg began as an army camp in 1941. It covers 86,000 acres. Now it serves as a missile launch facility. (September 2008)

